Yogurt market in North America will be sustainable

According to authoritative data, in the forecast period (2020-2025), the compound annual growth rate of yogurt market in North American is expected to rise to 3.9%. With the improvement of consumers' health awareness in North America and the health benefits of yogurt, such as improving digestion, enhancing immune function and reducing the risk of suffering from various diseases (including obesity), yogurt products have gradually become an important choice for healthy snacks. The scale of yogurt market in North America will gradually expand.

Fill the gap in the era of milk tea

Milk tea has become the favorite drink of modern young people in the past few years. However, with the concept of healthy living deeply rooted in people's hearts, high-sugar and high-calorie milk tea can no longer satisfy young people's pursuit of health. Yogurt drink, a leisure and healthy product, fills this gap.
